Bushbury Nursery School

Statement on Sex Education

Nursery children are on a constant voyage of discovery about the world around them and about themselves.

They ask questions about everything that interests them including their own bodies and their origins. It is Bushbury Nursery Schools policy to answer any questions sensitively, honestly, and naturally, using simple terms so that children can understand.

This policy extends to questions question on sexual matters. Sufficient information will be given to satisfy the child's curiosity. Any discussion will be put into context of loving, caring relationships where each person is valued.
